Tods Murray is a leading independent Scottish law firm. It aims to provide first-rate specialist legal advice to companies, institutions and organisations, within both the private and public sectors, and to families, individuals and charities.

It has an excellent Hospitality and Leisure team which comprises an experienced group of lawyers who, together, provide a strength and depth of skill and experience sufficient to satisfy the legal requirements of any client in the hospitality and leisure sector.

Tods Murray act for a wide range of clients and undertake an extensive variety of work from licensing and gaming requirements to acquisitions and disposals of hotels, restaurants, pubs and other leisure related property to looking after the corporate interests of bingo halls, garden centres, fitness clubs, publicans and some of the best hotels. They regularly advise on the development of golf clubs, multiplex cinemas and tourism attractions and are UK leaders in the specific area of Timeshare.

Within the Hospitality & Leisure team is a polished and experienced licensing service, headed up by partners Elaine Brailsford and Richard Findlay; and operated on a day to day basis by Stephen McGowan, currently a trainee solicitor with Tods Murray, who is hugely experienced in the fields of liquor licensing and gambling law.
